Contract for admittance to unstaffed library

This contract will give library patrons over the age of 15 access to the library when the library is unstaffed.

The library card becomes your key to the Library when signing the contract. Library patrons between the ages 15 and 18 must bring a parent or guardian when signing the contract.

In order to use your library card as an admittance card you have to observe a few simple rules:

- Show consideration for others. Do not litter. Keep our library tidy.
- Comply with the library's current borrowing regulations and house rules
- This contract and library card is for your use, and can not be transferred to third parties. You are responsible for your library card and pin code. If you loose your library card, please contact the library.
- Parents/guardians can bring their children, but not leave them unattended.
- Staying in the library at self-services hours is at your own risk.
- Follow instructions on the speaker or on information posters.
- Evacuate the building immediately in case of fire alarm.

Violations of the rules may result in the loss of your right to use the library during unstaffed hours.

Acts of vandalism will be reported to the police. You will be held financially liable for any damage caused.

The library's premises is under video surveillance, both to protect the library's property and equipment, and for the safety of its members. Surveillance recordings are stored according to current laws and regulations.
